STEAMER BURNS IN MID-OCEAN

Death Roll of British Ship Volturno May Reach Total of 236.

BATTLE WITH FLAMES.

Ten Steamers Receive Wireless For Assistance and Hasten to the Rescue of Burning Ship.

Fishguard, Eng., Oct. 11.—Wireless messages from the steamer Carmina report that the steamer Volturno, with several hundred passengers aboard from Rotterdam for New York, was abandoned afire at sea.

Ten steamers responded to the wirelesse calls for help and fought for hours during a raging gale to save the passengers and crew of the burning steamer, which eventually was abandoned. Occupants of lifeboats were thrown into the sea when the boats were smashed against the steamer's side and probably drowned.

One report by way of Liverpool is that 236 of the passengers and crew of the Volturno are missing.

The wireless from the Carmania said that the Volturno caught fire in mid-Atlantic, and that the flames raged so furiously in the gale that the abandonment of the steamer followed. A few details coming through by wireless promise a graphic story of the fight made by the crews of the transatlantic steamers which responded to the Volturno's call.

The Volturno sailed from Rotterdam on October 2 for New York by way of Halifax, where it was due to stop next Monday.

It is believed that the steamer carried 24 cabin passengers, 540 steerage passengers and a crew of 93 men. One wireless report said that 521 persons were saved.

Capt. Barr, of the Carmania received the distress call of the Volturno when 78 miles distant, in latitude 48.25 north, longitude 34.33 west. The Carmania crowded on full steam and with extra stokers made over twenty knots an hour in the teeth of the gale.

When the Carmania reached the vicinity of the Volturno at noon she found the forward end of the distressed vessel burning fiercely. The flaming ship was at the time rolling heavily while her propellers were fouled with boats tackle used in lowering her six lifeboats. It was learned by the captain of the Carmania that two only out of six lifeboats had succeeded in getting safely away from the Volturno. The other four crowded from stem to stern with passengers and members of the crew had been smashed against the side of the vessel, and all their occupants thrown into the sea and drowned.

In spite of the terrific gale raging near the Volturno the captain of the Carmania had one of his lifeboats lowered to proceed to the Volturno to help in the rescue. The boat was launched with much difficulty, for even on the lea city of the Carmania the sea was terribly rough, and it was only by extraordinary efforts that the small craft was prevented from being smashed or capsized as she left the side of the ship.

The Carmania's life boat in charge of First Officer Gardiner, made a gallant but futile attempt to get alongside the doomed Volturno. After two hours' battle with the waves during which the life boat lost all but three of her oars, the rest being broken or torn from the hands of the crew. First Officer Gardiner returned to the Carmania, which he succeeded in making without loss of life or broken limbs among the members of his boat's crew.

Capt. Barr, of the Carmania, then maneuvered his big vessel very close to the Volturno and finally got the Carmania's bow within a few hundred feet of the Volturno's stern.

It was found impossible, however, to cast a line on board the Volturno or to get anybody off her.

It was aterrifying sight for the passengers and crew of the Carmania to see so close to them the hundreds of passengers, including women and children, in horror stricken fear on the decks of the Volturno and yet be unable to help them.

Most of the passengers got into the Volturno's life boats, but a hundred of them had gathered at the after end of the burning vessel, whose crew at the same time continued in vain to fight the fire at her forward end.

Capt. Barr, of the Carmania in the meanwhile kept his wireless apparatus at work communicating with all the vessels within the radius of his instruments.

A fouled propeller is said to have caused the fire aboard the Volturno at 9:50 a. m., Friday. Quickly the liner was abalaze from stem to stern. So rapidly did the fire spread that many of the steerage passengers were burned in their quarters. Captains of the rescue ships said that some of them got to the Vouturno before she went down.

Ten liner's picked up the Volturno's distress signals and hurried in her direction. The Carmania, La Tourain, Minneapolis, Rappahannock, Czar, Narragansett, Bevonian, Kroonland, and Seidlitz rushed full speed to the spot where the vessel went down and picked up the survivors who were in life boats and rafts.

The Volturno, a twin screw steamship of 3,602 tons, built in 1906, was owned by the Canadian Northern Steamships Limited, and leased by the Uranian Steamship Company of Rotterdam. She left Rotterdam on October 2 for New York.

Her roster, according to information in London, showed 24 cabin passengers, 540 streerage, and crew of 93. This would make a total of only 657, instead of the 757 wirelessed by the Carmania.

According to Paul G. Fourman, general passenger agent of the Uranium line, the Volturno carried 21 first cabin passengers, 278 third class (steerage) passengers for Halifax, and 263 third class passengers for New York, with a crew of between 95 and 100. The total steerage passengers, according to Fourman, was 541. In London it was said that the Volturno carried 24 first cabin passengers 540 steerage, and 93 crew.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

At six o'clock last night all the members of the Mexican Chamber of Deputies, except those belonging to the Catholic party, were put under arrest. The others were taken to the penitentiary. The members of the Catholic party were permitted to go to their homes. At Thursday's session of the chamber a motion was made and carried authorizing the appointment of a committee to investigate the alleged murder of Senator Domingues of the State of Chiapas, who made a speech against President Huerta in the Senate on September 23rd.

His discovery of a freshly made grave in the family burying lot at Bangor, Me., led Henry Grasse to give himself up last night to the police who had been searching for him since the murder of his divorced wife, Nettie Grasse Appleby. The woman was shot and killed last Wednesday at the home of her sister here after Grasse had tried to persuade her to return to live with him Grasse was a lumber camp foreman. He told the police after his arrest that he had wandered about the suburbs for two days and nights, uncertain whether the woman was dead until he saw the grave in Mount Hope cemetery. Then, he said, he determined to give himself up.

The trip of the French line steamer France which arrived yesterday at Havre, France, from New York, was marked by a tragedy. An Italian passenger attempted to murder his wife and children on board the ship, and then took his own life.

VIRGINIA REALTY SHOWS INCREASE

State Auditor Moore Gives Out Some Facts and Figures.

GRATIFYING EXHIBIT.

Conditions Which Have Contributed to Enhancing Values Shown in Report.

Richmond, Va., Oct. 11.—Virginia real estate has noted an increased valuation of $11,574,350 during the past fiscal year over the figures shown in 1912, according to a statement given out at the office of State Auditor C. Lee Moore, yesterday afternoon.

The total valuation of real estate in Virginia amounts to $521,065,297, whereas $509,470,947 was the total registered in the preceding year. These figures do not include the valuation of minerals or of mineral lands.

Improvements along agricultural lines and the great development of the rural sections of the state during the past year account for a great deal of the increased valuation of the real estate, it is thought. The considerable improvements made in town and city lots as well as the increase in building operations throughout the state are also said to account for much of the increment noted in the auditor's report.

This growth in real estate of Virginia has had a direct influence upon the business throughout the state, as is evidenced by the fact that a $90,000 increase in merchants' license taxes has been reported at the auditor's office. This increase is for the first six months of the year, January through July, as over the figures reported during the same time for the year before.

Grand jury investigation s, instigated by Auditor Moore, have already led to an immense increase in the accounts of income taxes, real estate and personal property reported, and it is expected that when all of the counties have been heard from the figures already reported will note another great jump.

ATHLETICS TAKE LAST OF SERIES

Win From New York Giants By Score of Three To One.

"MATTY" VS. PLANK.

Two Veterans Face One Another in Grilling Contest—Athletics are World's Champions Again.

New York Oct. 11.—The Athletics won the last game of the world's series today, defeating New York by score of 3 to 1. Matthewson opposed Plank.

New York, Oct. 11.—(Christy) Matthewson today was the last hope of the New York Giants. On the very edge of complete rout in the series with the Athletics, it rested with Matty to turn back the Mackian batsmen today in order to give his teammates another chance to grasp the honors so rapidly slipping away. Early in the day there were doubts whether there would be a game, but at 1:45 while the weather was unpleasant, rain seemed improbable.

Connie Mack was in a position today to choose between Eddie Plank and one of his youngsters to work in the box. If Plank is in good form he could send the Gettysburg veteran out in an atteempt to close the series. In starting Shawkey or any other of his younger pitchers Mack would still have Plank to bring back Monday in case the youngster should be defeated by Matthewson. Should the situation take such a turn, McGraw would have no one to oppose Plank but one of the members of his big four, already mauled by the Mackmen.

Matthewson alone now stands between the Athletics and the world's championship. If he can hold off sluggers again today and instill a little kick back into his teammates they will have another chance. If he fails the show is over.

It is true that the Giants came from behind yesterday and nearly tied the score. But the attack did not carry the rush that marks an Athletic assault. When things looked worse for him Bender sent word to Mack through Danny Murphy that he did not want to be relieved.

The lower tier of the grand stand was filled an hour and a half before time to call the game. The bleachers filled up slowly, however. The Giant players struggled on the field in pairs The base lines were heavy, and the outfield appeared to be soaked. Balls cutitng through the grass during the Giants' batting practice threw up a trail of water in their wake.

The Athletics enjoyed the fruits of their three victories when they came on the field in a body. The crowd leaped to its feet as the Mackmen appeared and cheered them to the echo.

Matthewson appeared alone a few minutes later, and the demonstration for him was even greater than that of Thursday.

WOMEN SAVE LABOR.

Modern Methods in Kitchen Lessen Work and Worry.

When you buy a Hoosier Cabinet you buy a kitchen helper. In the old-fashioned way when you start to work you must go to your pantry, cupboard or probably cellar—make from ten to forty trips to gather all the things you need together and put them on your kitchen table, limiting your working space. If you need more room you have to take some of the things back to where you got them, necessitating useless walking, or else pile them up in an inconvenient manner.

When you work at the Hoosier table you put nothing on it except what you actually use. Everything is at hand. You don't have to go searching for anything. As soon as you are through you put back the articles where you got them without having to take steps. You close the doors, and everything is out of sight away from the dust. This is the Hoosier Cabinet being sold this week by the Griffin Furniture Company.

At six o'clock a dramatic recital, complimentary to the alumnae will be given by Miss Gertrude Spetzler, teacher of elocution at St. Mary's, who will be aided by talent of the school. The program will give Miss Spetzler an opportunity of displaying her remarkable histrionic talent and as it has never before been given at St. Mary's it will afford a delightful hour to the alumnae and faculty for whom alone it will be presented.

At seven o'clock the business meeting and election of officers for the coming year will be held, followed by Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament in the convent chapel which the beautiful statute of the Sacerd heart of Jesus and sanctuary lamp, late gifts of the alumnae, now adorn.

By eight o'clock all will repair to the convent parlors for the banquet which is expected to surpass anything before given by the association. It will be in charge of Whitestone and Rammel as caterers. Sixty alumnae have signified their intention to be present and the affair promises to be most enjoyable.

MARRIAGE AND DIVORCE LAWS

Resolution Introduced In Episcopal House of Deputies.

BISHOP LLOYD TALKS.

Makes Some Sharp Comment on Present Procedures on the Part of The Church.

New York, Oct. 11.—Bishop Arthur S. Lloyd hurled across the vaulted spaces of the Cathedral of St. John, the Divine, yesterday a message of defiance that set a flutter the general convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church. He challenged his church to a combat with the forces of evil and ignorance throughout the world, a combat from which it withdrew just at the time he had eloquently set forth its purposes, and his eagerness for the fray.

The address was delivered at the joint session on missionary work which was held in the Cathedral and which occupied the greater part of the day. He assailed the board of missions, of which he is president, for its failure to take part with other churches in the United Missionary campaign. He assailed it for its lack of a modern system; for a complacency that permits struggling dioceses to work out their own salvation without the assistance that he believes is theirs of right.

The convention devoted the greater part of the day to a discussion of missionary work. Bishops, clergymen and lay deputies, and the hundreds of women delegates of the woman's auxiliary met in the cathedral to hear what has been accomplished during the last three years, and what the men who are on the skirmishing line believe must be done if Church extensions are to prosper.

During the brief sessions of the house of bishops and thehouse of deputies memorials and resolutions were introduced which indicated the determination of the legislators to tackle without hesitation problems that have risen out of new conditions, and a desire to put the Church forward in its campaign of growth.

There was introduced in the house of bishops, a body that for 129 years has been meeting behind closed doors a resolution that this policy be discontinued. It was made the special order for tomorrow. Should the resolution prevail the meetings of the bishops will be reported as fully as those of the house of deputies now

Two important resolutions affecting marriage and divorce were introduced in the House of Deputies. The first of these, put before the house by the Rev. Henry Tatlock, of Michigan, povides for the appointment of a joint commission of fifteen to consider the desirability of amending the canon law, so as to require, before the solemnization of a marriage by a minister of the Church, the publication of the banns of marriage in the church, or the publication of a civil license in some newspaper, and second, the presentation on behalf of each of the parties desiring to be married of a certificate of a legally practicing physician certifying that he or she is normal mentally, and is not afflicted with any disease that would render marriage inadvisable. The second part of the proposed canon will bring before the convention the whole question of eugencies.

The second resolution affecting marriage and divorce was introduced by the Rev. William McComick, of Los Angeles, and provides for the making of marriage after divorce uncanonical. Under the present canon an Episcopal clergyman may solemnize the marriage of a divorced person who was blameless in the divorce proceedings. The proposed canon would place divorced pesons in the same situation as they are now placed by the Roman Catholic Church.

An amendment to the prayerbook was introduced by the Rev. Dr. Henry L. Jones, of Bethlehem. It provides that from the Good Friday Collect there shall be eliminated the prayer for the mercy of God upon all "Jews, Turks, infidels, and hertics, in order that they may be saved among the remnant of the true Israelites."

COLORED MAN IS KILLED

Amos Robinson Shot Down By Robert Hampton...Slayer Makes Escape

Considerable excitement was caused in the vicinity of Washington and Jefferson streets about five o'clock yesterday afternoon by the shooting of Amos Robinson, colored, by another negro named Robert Hampton. The shooting took place within the corporate limits of Alexandria, but Robinson ran several yards and fell in Fairfax county, and was virtually dead when bystanders went to his assistance. Hampton, with the pistol in his hand, walked slowly away in the direction of St. Mary's cemetery and succeeded in evading the police who later reached the scene. It is said he reappeared in this city about eleven o'clock last night, went to the house of a colored woman where he had been staying, secured his clothes and said he would not leave Alexandria until he had killed three other negroes—James Dixon, Roy Craves and James Young.

The trouble between the two men is of long standng and is said to have been the outcome of family troubles. Hampton has been staying at the house of a colored woman in the neighborhood of the shooting, while Robinson had been living in a house with the daughter of the woman. During the summer the woman with whom Robinson had been living suspected Hampton of stealing three dollars from her. Robinson was active in the causing the arrest of Hampton, but when the case was investigated in the Police Court, there being no positive evidence against Hampton, he was dismissed.

According to some statements, when the men met yesterday Hampton was half drunk and he accosted Robinson in a menacing manner. The latter showed no disposition to cringe before his adversary, and Hampton went to the house in which he had been living and soon returned with a pistol. Upon meeting Robinson he asked him if he was ready. Robinson replied that he was, supposing Hampton was about to use nature's weapon, and Robinson raised bis arms and replied, "yes." At this juncture Hampton aimed the pistol at Robinson's head and discharged it, the ball strking him in the neck, severing the main artery.

The wounded man ran a short distance before he fell and when several persons ran to his assistance they found he was speechless.

The police station was notified by telephone and Officer Roland reached the scene as soon as possible, but Hampton had in the meantime disappeared. Later Chief Goods, Sergeant Wilkinson and Officer Bell arrived and they made a thorough search of the country south of the spot where the shooting occurred, but they found no traces of the murderer.

There are several versions of the affair. One story is to the effect that Hampton brushed into Robinson while the latter was at Washington and Jefferson streets. Robinson took offense at this and, it is said, cursed Hampton and threw bricks at him. Hampton went directly to his home nearby and, procuring a pistol, returned and fired one shot at Robinson.

A large crowd gathered around the body of the dead man, and an hour later it was removed to B. Wheatley's undertaking establishment by order of Coroner S. B. Moore.

The police later obtained a picture of Hampton, who recently worked in Pennsylvania. The description obtained by them is that he is between thirty-five and forty years old, nearly six feet tall, and weighs between 185 and 200 pounds. He is of ginger cake color and has a slight mustache. He wore blue overalls, and a khaki shirt and slouch hat, either black or dark gray. Hampton came here several years ago from the south.

Hampton has a record. On December 11, 1911, he was arrested for carrying a pistol in the northeastern section of the city. He was fined $50 in the Police Court, and in default of payment served a term on the roads.

The following were summoned as a coroner's jury this morning: Courtney Acton, William Desmond, Thos. H. Henshaw, Alfred Thomson, J. K. Brown, and J. W. Bales. After viewing the body the jury was adjourned until eight o'clock tonight.

ALDERMEN MEETS TODAY

Resolution Adopted Providing For Borrowing Fifty Thousand Dollars

An adjourned meeting of the Board of Aldermen was held at 11 o'clock this morning for the purpose of receiving the report of the finance committee on a resolution authorizing the city to borrow fifty thousand dollars for the purpose of meeting current expenses to June 1. 1914.

Mr. Field, chairman of the committee, presented a favorable report on the resolution, and in doing so he said the city by being compelled to borrow this amount and to do what it had done at times in past years, was not to be considered bankrupt, as some were wont to say. The city merely desired to negotiate a temporary loan.

President Marbury suggested it was an act which business often had recourse to.

Mr. Field, continuing, said the city owes no more now than it did at the beginning of the fiscal year. Of course, should other street work be authorized, entailing any great expenditure of money, the obligations of the city would necessarily be further augmented. The speaker made other observations concerning the city's liabilities, but stated nothing to cause alarm or uneasiness. He said he had made these statements simply in answer to recent unnecessary criticism. "We have the work," he said, "to show for all of our outlay." He said, however, that the city had recently been spending money in excess of its receipts.

The report of the committee was passed by a unanimous vote and the board adjourned.

ESCAPE FROM SHARKS.

Man Fights For Life With Knife When Thrown Into Water.

Norfolk, Va., Oct. 11.—Forced to take to life boats after their vessel was wrecked during a hurricane off the South Carolina coast, Captain J. W. Murphy and nine men, of the four-masted schooner John Twohy, faced death for many hours before they were picked up by the British steamer Kinslea, which brought them to this port yesterday.

The men were sighted Wednesday evening and a life boat in charge of second officer Herbert Fussy, of the Kinslea, started to the rescue. The waves were so high the lifeboat was forced to return to the steamer and was smashed to pieces against the sides of the big vessel.

John McGaskill, a seamon, was thrown overboard and came near being devoured by sharks. He fought them off with his knife until he was almost exhausted. His shipmates threw a life belt, which he seized with one hand and fought off the sharks with the other. He managed to fasten the belt to his body, and his shipmates dragged him through the raging sea at a rapid rate. The sharks followed in hot pursuit. It was a thrilling race for life, but McGaskill won. He was completely exhausted when hauled up on deck of the Kinslea.

A second life boat was launched and started to the assistance of the crew of the schooner, who were waving frantically to them. Hundreds of sharks were swimming around the boat apparently waiting in expectancy of what was certain to have happened had not the Kinslea sighted the imperiled men. The men were finally taken in the big life boat and placed on board the Kinslea.

The Twohy, with a cargo of lumber, was bound to New York from Jacksonville.

ANOTHER OCEAN HORROR.

The burning of the British steamer Volturno in the middle of the Atlantic on Thursday, is the second sea horror which has occurred in the last eighteen months. The loss of the White Star liner Titantic in April, 1912, is still fresh in the minds of many, and while pictures of that terrible calamity are still being exhibited in store windows extras were being sold in the streets today announcing the burning of the British emigrant ship and the loss of between two and three hundred persons.

The burning of the Volturno brings to mind the loss of the steamer Austria in 1858, when several hundred persons perished in mid-ocean. Several Alexandrians were aboard this ill-fated ship. She had left Hamburg for New York crowded with passengers, most of whom were Germans. While in the middle of the ocean the work of fumigating the steamer was in progress when a bucket of tar was accidentally overturned. The tar caught fire and the engines were partially shut down while attempts to extinguish the fire were being made. The flames, however, soon gained headway, and when the engineers would have stopped the steamer they were unable to reach the throttle. The flames roared through the ship and into the rigging, the steamer in the meantime proceeding on her course and the breeze she made fanned the flames.

Most of the passengers and crew leaped into the sea and were drowned. Late at night the Cunard steamer Arabia was attracted by the light from the burning vessel and came to the rescue. A few passengers and some of the crew were found hanging to spars and boxes and nearly exhausted. Jacob Brodbeck, a well-known baker and confectioner was among the Alexandrians lost.

COLUMBUS DAY TOMORROW.

Tomorrow, October 12th, is the day which is celebrated as the anniversary of the landing of Columbus upon the shores of the New World. There is some dispute as to the exact date of the original landing and the revision of the calendar has complicated the question still further. But it is no matter; this event is one that deserves to be celebrated and one day set aside for that purpose will answer as well as another.

The organization that bears the name of the great discoverer naturally takes the leading part in the celebration, but it should not by any means be confined to its members. Columbus was one of the world's heroes and in a more especial sense he should be the hero of all Americans.

In that adventurous fifteenth century there were many bold and persistent spirits, but none more zealous, intrepid and determined than the Genoese navigator. It does not detract from his vast achievement that he did not suspect the existence of a new continent or have in view anything more important than finding a shorter route to India. He had faith in the rotundity of the earth and reasoned that by sailing west he must inevitably strike India—which he would have done if his crew could have held out and if the American continent had not been in his path. He was one of those fortunate ones who accomplished vastly more than they undertake. He underwent the severest trials in securing support for what appeared to the minds of the day a quixotic adventure. He was obliged to face the mutiny of his faithless crew; he reaped no personal rewards, but, on the contrary received persecution and died without realizing the magnitude of his services to the world.

It might have been that America would not have long remained undiscovered, in any event; but it is certain that the discovery would have been delayed but for the genius and moral fibre that was his. He was the central figure in the greatest event of secular history, and it is but a small tribute to his memory that on at least one day in each year we should ponder his splendid performance and render our grateful praise.

CHANDLER ON JEWISH PERSECUTION.

Representative Chandler, of New York, a Progressive, delivered an unusual speech in the House yesterday on the subject of Jewish persecution.

Mr. Chandler took for his text the failure of Roumania to live up to the terms of the treaty of Berlin guaranteeing equal treatment of all persons, without regard to race or religion. He spoke for thirty minutes and was given close attention. Mr. Chandler began by declaring that persecution of the Jews was contrary to Scriptural teachings.

"The last prayer of the Master on the Cross," he said, "must be made to repeal earlier Scriptural prophecy or decree. 'Father, forgive them, for they know not what they do,' is the sublimest utterance in the literature of the world. It is the epitome of every Christian virtue and of all religious truth. This proclamation from the Cross repealed the Mosaic law of hereditary sin, placed upon a personal basis responsibility for offenses against God and man, and served notice upon future generations that those 'who know not what they do' are entitled to be spared and forgiven.

"To believe that God ignored the prayer of Christ on the Cross and that the centuries of persecution of the Jews, which followed, were but the fulfillment of prophecy and fate is to assail the Messiahship of Jesus and to question the goodness and mercy of Jehovah.

"Jesus knew the full meaning of his prayer and was serious unto death. To believe that the Father rejected the petition of the Son is to destroy the equality of the Persons of the Trinity by investing one with the authority and the power to review, revise and reject the judgments and petitions of the others.

"Let no persecutor of the Jew lay the unction to his soul that he is justified by the tragedy of Golgotha, for he who persecutes in the name of religion is a spiritual barbarian and intellectual savage. Let this same persecutor not make the mistake of supposing that the Jews are wholly responsible for the persecution that has been heaped upon them."

About twenty years ago Senator Zeb Vance delivered an interesting lecture on the Jewish race at the Opera House in Alexandria, which was listened to with close attention by the large concourse gathered on the occasion. The Senator handled his subject in a masterly manner. Among other things he compared the Hebrew race to the Gulf Stream—a river in the ocean—a people mingled with all nations of the earth, without a country, king or high priest, yet kept separate and distinct for nineteen centuries. A striking illustration of the truth of their ancient scriptures.

ALEXANDRIA'S FINANCES.

Alexandria, Va., Oct. 10, 1913.
Editor Alexandria Gazette.

According to the auditor's report for the fiscal year ending May 31, 1913, the city received from taxes the sum of $11,427.54; from licenses, $18,622.77; from paving and improvement bills, $4,880.33; from tapping sewers, $2,142.28; from miscellaneous sources, $11,388.70; from the gas fund, $12,000.00; and from temporary loans, $44,000.00; a total of $203,501.62.

According to the official report for the fiscal year ending May 31, 1902, the city's receipts were from taxes $81,675.38; from licenses, $12,476.70; from paving and improvement bills, $6,101.63; from tapping sewers, $895.00; from miscellaneous sources, $9,021.75; from the gas fund, $6,000.00; and from temporary loans, $4,000.00; a total of $119,170.46.

Omitting the temporary loans from both years, receipts were: 1902, $115,170.46; 1913, $159,501.62 an increase for the year 1913 of $44,331.16, equivalent to 27. 7 per cent.

What cause other than civic improvement has operated to bring about this considerable increase in our annual receipts?

In 1902 we issued $50,000.00 worth of bonds for public improvements; in 1913 we have a deficit of approximately $50,000,00; is not an annual increase in our receipts of $44,331.16, a reasonable return upon the $100,000.00 we have borrowed?

In 1913 we expended for schools the sum of $17,000.00; repaid a temporary loan of $25,000.00; for curbing and brick, $7,642.95; for sewer pipe, $1,815.32; for special street work, $34,571.65; for northwest sewer, $2,192.18; for general sewer construction, $7,010.95; for annexation expenses, $1,000.00; and for miscellaneous expenses, $107,117.86; a total of $203,430.91.

In 1902 our expenditures were: For schools, $13,800.00; for a temporary loan, $4,000.00; for a lot on Prince street, $1,500.00; for street improvement, $10,913.86; for sewers, $4,687.39; and for miscellaneous expenses, $88,796.52; a total of $123,697.77.

Our expenditures may be more or less correctly divided into general operating expense, and investments.

Under the head of general operating expenses, for the purposes of this article, are classed the expenditures for the schools, and for miscellaneous purposes, which were: 1902, $102,596.52; and for 1913, $124,197.86; an increase for 1913 of $21,601.34, or 21 per cent.

Under the head of investments, for the purpose of this article, are classed the items of special street work, curbing and brick, sewer pipe, northwest sewer, general sewer construction, annexation expense, lot on Prince street, etc.

From these investments have come our annually increasing receipts; and from these investments we can confidently expect more and larger additions to the same receipts.

What are our equivalents for the additional expense of $21,601.34 per annum? Better service, better schools, cleaner streets, better sanitary conditions.

For these improvements we paid in 1913 increases of, approximately, salaries, $2,000.00; police, $2,400.00; schools, $3,200.00; charity, $1,700.00; public property, $900.00, street leaning, $4,800.00; and paid interest into the sinking fund, $6,200.00.

Yours truly,
JAMES BAYNE.

YOUR HAIR IS TURNING GREY AND IT MAKES YOU LOOK OLD

This is Not the Time When Old Age is to be Desired

TO KEEP POPULAR KEEP YOUR APPEARANCE OF YOUTH

A young man was surprised to have his application for a position "turned down." He was better equipped for the position than the fellow who got it.

He discovered that his grey hairs did it. He was "too old" looking. It's the same everywhere. There is no doubt but that grey hair does make a man look old. There is no use waiting another minute—don't lose your position or fail in getting a better one because you are old looking—use Hay's Hair Health now.

Those who are using Hay's Hair Health recommend it to their friends, because it is genuinely good, always restores grey hair to its natural color; destroys dandruff, keeps the scalp clean and healthy. You begin to note the difference at once. The few grey hairs disappear and never return.

Why look old when you are young? Get a bottle of Hay's Hair Health at once, start using it and see what a difference a few applications make.

HELPLESS AS BABY

Down in Mind Unable to Work, and What Helped Her.

Summit Point, W. Va.—Mrs. Anna Belle Emey, of this place, says: "I suffered for 15 years with an awful pain in my right side, caused from womanly trouble, and doctored lots for it, but without success. I suffered so very much that I became down in mind, and as helpless as a baby. I was in the worst kind of shape. Was unable to do any work.

I began taking Cardui, the woman's tonic, and got relief from the very first dose. By the time I had taken 12 bottles, my health was completely restored. I am now 48 years years old, but feel as good as I did when only 16.

Cardui certainly saved me from losing my mind, and I feel it my duty to speak in its favor. I wish I had some poor, suffering women, and could make them know the good it would do them."

If you suffer from any of the ailments peculiar to women, it will certainly be worth your while to give Cardui a trial. It has been helping weak women for more than 50 years, and will help you, too.

Try Cardui. Your druggist sells it.

Board of Aldermen.

At an adjourned meeting of the Board of Aldermen of the City of Alexandria, Va., held October 10, 1913, there were present:

F. F. Marbury, Esq., president; and Messrs. Brill, Field, Fitzgerald and Summers.

Mr. Field, from the finance committee, reported favorably upon the following resolution which was referred to the committee October 7, 1913:

Resolved, That the Mayor, Treasurer and Finance Committee be, and they are hereby authorized to borrow the sum of Fifty Thousand ($50,000) Dollars and issue the obligations of the City Council of Alexandria, Va., therefor at such times and such sums as may be necessary for the expenses of the city, chargeable to the general fund, for the fiscal year ending May 31, 1914, said notes to be signed by the Mayor, the City Treasurer, attested by the City Auditor, and the seal of the Corporation affixed thereto, as evidence of the obligation.

The report of the committee was adopted by the following vote:

Ayes, Messrs. Brill, Field, Fitzgerald, Summers and Mr. President—5. Noes, none.

The Board then adjourned.

F. F. Marbury, President.
Teste:
Luther H. Thompson, Clerk.

Burr Lafond Harris, the negro who confessed beating Mrs. Rebecca P. Gay to death on September 2nd, last night told the police of Los Angeles, Cal., that he was paid $5 to murder the woman. He implicated another negro as having acted agent for a third party, but he did not disclose the name of either. Harris said he met the other negro at a point south of San Diego after the murder, received the money and buried it near the Custom Station at Tia Juna. The negro's supplementary confession supports the original theory of the police that Mrs. Gay had been killed by a paid assassin at the instigation of her enemies.

DEATH IN ELECTRIFIED TOUCH

Burned Finger End Indicates How Foreman Met His Fate.

Pottsville, Pa., Oct. 11.—Bernard McKeever, foreman of the Eastern Pennsylvania Light, Heat and Power Company's station at East Arch and Railroad streets, was electrocuted while at work Thursday in the station, which is situated in the heart of Pottsville. The tip of McKeever's left forefinger was burned, and this was probably the point of contact with the fatal electric fluid. There was also an open wound on the back of the head, probably caused when McKeever fell over dead.

He was in the act of turning a number of screws, from which the current had been turned off by a lever from all screws but one.

O. E. Lever, of Brooklyn, N. Y., was fatally injured yesterday when he was knocked down as he rushed for a ticket window at the Polo Grounds. Lever was leading several hundred fans, who had just arrived on a subway train, and the crowd was so eager to reach the window that the man was trampled upon by many of those who followed. Two thousand people had gathered in front of the ticket window at 9 o'clock in the morning, several hundred of these had stood in line all night. Nearly ten thousand were in the line when the ticket windows were opened at 10:45 a. m.

Mrs. Jennie May Eaton will be placed on trial for the murder of her husband, Rear Admiral Joseph Giles Eaton, retired, next Tuesday before the Supreme Court of Plymouth, Mass. Evidence of a sensational nature is expected to be introduced on both sides and much mystery surrounds a witness for the defendant, who is said to have been located in New York. It is said that this witness knew Mrs. Eaton when she was a Miss Harrison, of Alexandria, Va.

Two shots out of the darkness of Crotona Park, New York, near the 174th street entrance at 11 o'clock last night were heard by Patrolman Gleason. Groping among the mounds and rocks he came upon the forms of a man and woman. The man was dead; the woman unconscious. Letters were found which indicated the man was Nathan Saglowitz and the girl Clara Kaplin. It is believed that they entered into a suicide agreement.

DEATH OF COL. JONES.

Former Virginian Dies at the Age of 80—Was Blind 45 Years.

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 11.—Colonel Alfred Walker Jones, aged 80 years, a native of Virginia, who has been blind 45 years, and who while sightless served two terms in Congress and two terms in the Virginia State Senate, and later was a railroad executive in California, died at an early yesterday from pneumonia. For the last six years, in addition to his business, Col. Jones has been disabled by the loss of his right arm and from septic inflammation caused by a fracture resulting from a fall down a flight of steps.

Col Jones was the son of a Mexican war officer, and a descendant through his mother of a French duke, who was on LaFayette's staff in this country in the revolution. He studied law at the University of Virginia, and was married in 1858 in Independence, Mo. Entering the Confederate army two years later he rose to the rank of Colonel on the staff of Gen. Sterling Price.

ELOPERS TAKEN BACK.

Quartette Who Went to Richmond Are Caught in Indiana.

New Brunswick, N. J., Oct. 11.—Eugene Keenan, who eloped two weeks ago with Mrs. Alexander Ballantyne, wife of the proprietor of the Jamesburg Hotel, has been brought to the county jail.

Keenan will be held in the jail to await the action of the grand jury on the charge of wife desertion and non-support, which has been filed against him.

Mr. Ballantyne also returned from his trip to Indianapolis and Richmond with Mrs. Ballantyne and the two Ballantyne children, but refused to discuss his attitude toward either Keenan or his wife. It is learned, however, that Mrs. Ballantyne and the children, also Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Smith, are at the Jamesburg Hotel, of which Ballantyne is proprietor.

Mrs. Smith was formerly Miss Mary Ballantyne and left home with Mr. Smith at the same time that Keenan and her mother went away. She and Smith were married the following day at Philadelphia.

The quartette of elopers were in Richmond for a few days and departed hastily when it got a tip from Jamesburg that the police were after them.
